Readme

In order to execute the cleaning script, open the script in Jupyter Notebooks and follow the comments to alter the parameters accordingly. The code cleans the data files monthly so it needs to be run for each month separately. Also, note that the raw data files for each month should be separated into different folders. The given script mainly cleans the raw data by changing the format of different fields, replacing missing / null values with zero, renaming the files with relevant details.